Only English
But Good Training

- English important in industry and in academia
- Taiwanese students can use English well—but needs training
  - training to be courageous
  - training to be fluent
- English classroom as easy/difficult as Mandarin classroom—quoted from a study by Prof. S.-C. Kan (NTU CE)

the key is how hard students study, not the language

This course can prepare you with good English training.
complicated contents but learnable

- course goal: not to be the most difficult course in the world, but to let you learn the most
- go through complicated contents carefully to let you learn the most, as long as you give yourself more confidence, allocate enough time

To get to the essence of things one has to work long and hard—Vincent Van Gogh

This course can guide you to learn the most.
Five Reasons for Taking the Course (3/5)

Strict Instructor
But Friendly

- Will you repeat the previous algorithm/theorem again? Yes.
- Will you discuss with me after class if I don’t understand? Yes.
- Will you tolerate my poor English? There is no poor English.
- Will you pardon my silly questions? There are no silly questions.
- Will the TAs be as friendly as you? We’re always trying to be more friendly to students.

This course comes with a friendly instructor who is always willing to help you learn the most.
Five Reasons for Taking the Course (4/5)

High Loads
But Reasonable

- homework goal: not to torture you, but to help extend your understanding reasonably

- you can finish homework:
  - ask instructor/TA email questions
  - go to forum
  - go to TA session
  - go search related materials
  - form study groups

- you will learn more from homework than from class

- score not important

This course will include only helpful and reasonable homework problems.
Experimental Design

But Flexible Flow

- principle: I want to teach well; you want to learn well.
- feedback highly valued: course evolves with all of us
- Will your investment (time) get good return (knowledge)? No guarantees, but I’ll try very hard.

This course is an open and interactive project among us.
