Discussion on the Project of Further Investigation on the Running Time

Comments I

- This project is simple, so most people did get good results

- For the description in the report, most have rightly used tables to clearly show results. However, as the code is simple, showing the main loop will greatly help your readers to see what you have done. I will show a few example

- In comparing MATLAB and C, the issue of single versus double may be there

- This project has nothing to do with GPU. Better analysis on CPU gives you better scores
